A PITCHER'S DOWNFALL

GAME CALLED ON ACCOUNT OF THE SNOW.

It may have happened before somewhere, but the memory of the oldest Salt Lake fan runneth not to the time when a ball game here was called on at Walker's field yesterday afternoon at the end of the fifth. For some time prior thereto the "beautiful" had been sifting down quite coplously. Salt Lake 9, Railways 6.

cension with a single. Taylor pushed out one of like proportions, and both scored in a mix-up that followed Jensen's messing of Shepherd's grounder. Shanahan walked on four wide ones, and when Wiesek tapped out a little one that nobody took notice of, the bases were filled. Asbury had a chance to d'stinguish bimself, but he let Jensen fan him. Then the Sampeter made Barnes a gift, forcing in Shepherd. Next he passed Pace, and Shanahan trotted home. Bettile's single scored Wiecke, and it began to look as if the story would run over to page 19.

So indeed it might have been had not siffin felt a surge of sympathy under its shirt bosom. He put Webster in Jer Jensen, disgusted, and the run-getting of the kailways ceased with some bruptness for that inning. There were no other features worth dividing. Except Asbury's triple, his first hit of the season, the spectators applauded vigorously at times in order to keep from freezing. All the money went to the players. The result does not count in the percentage table, this being purely an exhibitior some, which may account for many of the distressing features. He said he never knew Power's or Youtsey until some days after the shooting; never saw Berry Howard at all; had seen Jim Howard only since they had been in juil together here, and never knew either Culton or Wharton Goden.

Taylor gave him the order Jan. 20 for the organization of a company, and of Jan. 25 fripley came here and secured equipment for it. This was the day on which he had a conversation with Taylor and his version of it, which varies materiahy from that stated by Messys. Bradkey and Yost, was: terially from that stated by Messys, Brad-ley and Yost, was:
"I went into the governor's office and found Governor Taylor looking very bad-ly. I tod him I was sorry to see him looking badly, to which he replied:

What Taylor Said.

What Taylor Said.

"In these horrible times anybody would look badly. Some irresponsible 1001 of crank is likely to kill me or kill Gebel and cause a flot around here in which there will be many lives sacrificed, or in substance to that. Then I told him I did not think this would occur and went on taking to him about my company, which I was getting equipments for. "My God,' he said, have you not got that company ready yet?" That was what I was trying to tell Governor Bradiey and Judge Yost, but I may not have stated it to them as clearly as I intinded to."

Its decided that he ever said to Ferguson and Chawford that Goebel would be killed and admitted that he warried W. P. Thorne, on Jan. 23, to keep his sin away from Frankfort, but said he did so because of the disturbed conditions here, and not from any knowledge of what was going to occur the next day. He maintained that there was no secrecy about the organization and equipment of his company, and said that Governor Taylor told him that it was not necessary to apply to the county judge, for authority to organize it. The company, he said, was organized for pleasure.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Maurice Shanahan of Grand Rapids, Mich., one of the largest furniture manufacturers in the world, passed through Salt Lake yesterday, registering at the Knutsford.

"The furniture manufacturing business is soreading to many cities," he said. The furniture manufacturing business is spreading to many cities, he said, but Grand Lapids will always be the furniture manufacturing center of the world. Chicago, Cheinnari and other cities have tried to take away the pestuge of Grand Rapids, but they have no been also to do so. The industry was built up there largely because timber was sugar and so plentiful, but that has cease to be a factor. The timber has been mostly cut off, but wood can be imported from Central America and turned into furniture in Grand Rapids and compet with the product of other cities closer is the source of supply. The reason is that the Grand Repids manufacturiers have the advantage of long experience, the highest skill obtainable and a reputation for first-class goods. The city is turning lines of late, and is making great progress despite the setback of the panic.
